The Contrasting Realities Of Reopening Schools: Understanding Inequities To Support The Whole Child
Welcome

Richard Ressel

Director, Sanford Inspire
Sanford Programs, National University
Moderator

Jacqueline Jodl, Ph.D., MBA

Special Assistant to the Dean
Associate Professor, University of Virginia
The Contrasting Realities Of Reopening Schools: Understanding Inequities To Support The Whole Child
• How realistic is it for schools to reopen?

• What are the contrasting realities being faced right now?
  • Shift away from deficit framing
  • Focus on SEL in the first weeks of school as foundationally critical

• What are the learning implications for remote learning?
  • Move from students participating to students driving learning
Questions?
Dr. Linda Darling Hammond
Dr. Douglas Fisher
Dr. Tyrone Howard

SANFORD PROGRAMS™ National University System
Continue learning on the Online Learning Portal

online.sanfordharmony.org
Visit Sanford Harmony at sanfordharmony.org
Visit Sanford Inspire at sanfordinspire.org
Welcome to Harmony at Home! As schools are closing to prevent the spread of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19), Sanford Programs has been communicating with parents of students who are transitioning to online teaching and engaging families who will be schooling at home.

Harmony at Home is an online toolkit for parents and guardians to teach social emotional learning (SEL) skills using the strategies Sanford Programs has developed for classroom teachers. We’ve compiled interaction Sanford Harmony lessons, as well as Sanford Inspire measures for parents to make this transition as easy and rewarding as possible.

As your family navigates the challenges and opportunities that come with learning at home, developing social emotional learning skills may be beneficial. Read our "Welcome Letter" to learn more.

Why Is SEL Important at Home?

We encourage you to watch the following video about SEL for parents from the Collaborative for Academic, Social, and Emotional Learning (CASEL). You’ll hear from SEL teachers, educators, and parents as they explain the long-term benefits of these important lessons. These lessons include managing stress, processing feelings, and resolving conflict - all much-needed skills during this time of uncertainty.

Getting Started with Harmony at Home
Sanford Harmony has launched a new gaming app – so that parents, teachers and students can access Harmony games and Quick Connection Cards on their iOS and Android devices – quickly and easily.

This app includes:

- Quick Connection Cards
- Harmony Games in an exciting digital format
- Unlockable tokens
- ‘Favorite’ system for teachers and parents
- Spanish version of games and cards

Download the Harmony Game Room app today!
The SEL Playbooks offer engaging tools and resources that support Social Emotional Learning environments.

https://selplaybook.org/
To learn more, visit the SEL PD page in our Online Learning Portal Visit online.sanfordharmony.org
More Online Resources & Support

sanfordharmony.org
Thank you for attending!

For more info on SEL in onsite, online or in the home contact us at sanfordprograms@nu.edu